What is an Intermediate School?

An intermediate school is similar to a middle school and is for Year 7 and Year 8 students only (10 -13 year olds). Intermediate schools act as a bridge between the primary and secondary systems.

Why an Intermediate School?

The middle years for children are a time of rapid physical and emotional growth. Students are given the chance to focus on developing their independence and also to experience a diverse range of opportunities and activities before they enter high school.

Excellence, Respect, Integrity and Resilience

Glen Eden Intermediate School students will be critical thinkers, problem solvers, effective communicators, and collaborators. Our GEIS vision is 'to create an engaging environment full of opportunity and choice'. Our 'kiwi' students embrace all cultures and see it as a real honour to become a buddy for an International Student. We want our International Students to embrace all on offer at GEIS as they work towards excellence and becoming global citizens.
